

Capital One's 9th Annual Future Leaders Forum for Young Women

Based on the tremendous success of the past eight Forums, Capital One is pleased to offer the ninth annual Future Leaders Forum for Young Women on Saturday, March 23, 2013 at our West Creek Town Center facility. This full-day event welcomes 300 young women in grades 9 through 12 to our Richmond campus, where they will participate in activities designed to inspire, encourage and build leadership skills. The deadline to register is Friday, March 8; there is no fee to attend. Please find the registration packet attached.

Thank you in advance for selecting 12-15 students from your school and providing this registration packet to them.

Who should attend?

Participants must be young women in grades 9–12 who would benefit from messages and activities designed to inspire, encourage and build leadership skills. These are young women who take an active interest in their future, demonstrate leadership potential through academics, sports or volunteer activities, and care about making a difference.

More about the Future Leaders Forum for Young Women

The Future Leaders Forum for Young Women brings role models and young women together in a dynamic session—one that taps their strengths to assume the role of tomorrow's leaders.

Students enjoy:

- Meeting and networking with their peers
- Hearing from national speakers
- Building financial skills in budgeting, saving and smart investing
- Learning more about topics important to young women through interactive workshops
- Participating in informative hands-on activities throughout the day

Additionally, associates from Capital One serve as mentors who role-model leadership, facilitate small group discussions and encourage attendees to strengthen their own leadership skills.

If you have questions about the Forum, please contact a Forum representative, at futureleadersforumforyoungwomen@capitalone.com.
