School & Community

Caroline High School is one of five schools in Caroline County and the only four-year comprehensive high school in the county. The school serves approximately 1180 students from diverse backgrounds in grades nine through twelve. Approximately 47% of the student population is eligible for free or reduced-price lunch. The school is located in a rural county located between Fredericksburg and Richmond in east central Virginia. I-95 and Routes 1, 17, and 301 are major arteries which run north and south through the county.

School Organization

Caroline High School operates on a 4x4 block schedule, which offers students four 100 minute classes per day. Credit for successful completion of the course is awarded at the end of the semester for all full credit and half credit courses. Student progress is reported on a nine-week basis with midterm and final examinations given.

Curriculum

Academic Rigor & Course Selection: Students are encouraged to select rigorous courses that will provide an intellectual challenge and will better prepare them for future educational and career pursuits beyond high school. An educational plan is presented and reviewed to all students through the annual course selection process.

Course Load: Students are expected to take a full course load in grades 9 through 11. Seniors have the option to have early release, but only when they have already passed the necessary test required for their diploma option and met other administrative requirements.

High School Courses Taken in Middle School: If a middle school student successfully completes a high school credit course, the credit earned is used to satisfy course requirements for graduation. The grades earned are included when calculating the student's grade point average.

Honors Courses: Are offered in English, Mathematics, Science and Social Studies.

Advanced Placement Program: The Advanced Placement (AP) Program provides students with the opportunity to pursue college-level studies while in still in high school. Students may receive college credit pending AP exam scores at the end of the school year. Academically-oriented students are encouraged to participate in the Advanced Placement Program at Caroline High School. Students may take these courses at the high school or through Virtual Virginia, an online educational program. AP courses follow College Board course curriculum and serve to prepare students for the AP examinations in May. Grades earned carry weighted credit in the GPA calculation. AP courses listed below are offered at Caroline High School based on enrollment. Courses: AP English Literature/ Composition, AP English Language, AP US Government, AP Calculus AB, AP Art History, AP European History, AP Chemistry, other AP course are offered through Virtual Virginia.

Commonwealth Governor's School

Curriculum is designed to challenge students in the four major academic content areas, through problem-based instruction appropriate for gifted and highly motivated learners and to focus on the community issues of environment, development, and service. The weighted courses offered at CGS cover English, Math, Science and Social Studies and are mostly Honor Advanced Placement versus Dual Enrollment.

Exceptional Education Programs

Career & Technical Education (CTE) Programs: The Career & Technical Education program offers students a variety of experiences, hands-on applications, opportunities for skill building, and preparations for certification assessments. Each course has incorporated workplace readiness skills and students have the opportunity to earn industry certifications.

Diversified Studies: This program provides an alternative teaming environment for students. Caroline High School offers GED Prep and GED examination.

English as a Secondary Language: Caroline High School offers assistance to students who are English Language Learners as determined through the evaluation and identification process. Students participate in academic courses at the high school while receiving service.

Special Education & 504: Classes are offered for students with special needs who have been evaluated and identified as having an educational impact and are in need of individualized education. Coursework and accommodations are designed to meet the academic, emotional, and/or physical needs of students with disabilities through self-contained classes, collaborative classes, and/or accommodations.

Gifted: Opportunities for acceleration and advanced coursework are available at the high school level. Academically gifted students are encouraged to enroll in the most challenging course available to them. These courses include honors classes, Advanced Placement classes, and Dual Enrollment classes. Gifted students in the arts are encouraged to enroll in appropriately corresponding elective courses in their talent area. In addition, students may apply to the Commonwealth Governor's School and the Chesapeake Bay Governor's School. Rising juniors and seniors may also apply to one of Virginia's Summer Residential Governor's School programs.
